Arrests keep coming in drug roundup

BY GEOFF BELCHER
News Editor

"Operation: Afternoon Delight" apparently stretched into late evening, then early morning and several days later.

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Frank McNeil and Waveland Police Chief James Varnell announced yesterday that three more alleged drug traffickers have been arrested as part of the operation.

The latest arrests netted three Bay St. Louis men, including Fabian Collins, who was charged with two counts of the transfer of a controlled substance; Mark Price, charged with six counts of the transfer of a controlled substance; and Paul Saucier, two counts of the transfer of a controlled substance.

All three men were transported to the Hancock County Justice Facility, where Collins was held on a $20,000 bond and Price on a $60,000 bond.

Saucier was held without bond, McNeil said, because "he and ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT

A 52-year-old man was rushed to Hancock Medical Center Monday after his bike struck a vehicle leaving Henderson Ford in Waveland.

Assistant Chief Sam Henley, with the Waveland Police Department, said James L. Thomas, of Hattiesburg, was traveling westbound in the eastbound lane on Highway 90 when his bike slammed into a 1998 Lincoln driven by 25-year-old Robert C. Gordon Jr., of Waveland, who was turning right onto the highway shortly after noon.

Janet McQueen, marketing director at Hancock Medical Center, said Thomas was in fair condition and awaiting surgery as of Wednesday evening.

Three people have died in separate car crashes along a stretch of Mississippi 43 that runs between Kiln and Picayune, authorities said.

Both accidents, one Saturday and the other Monday, were head-on collisions that occurred within five miles of each

HCWS hears complaints

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Hancock County Water and Sewer District has struggled with problems with its new water Phase 1 water system since its completion. First there was leak after leak that had to be repaired, a result, they say of poor planning and construction. Now, with the system up and running, the district is receiving complaints about the color of the water.

In a white tub or a clear glass the water takes on a slightly brown color. Repeated testing, the district says, shows the water to be safe to drink, but what is safe and what is aesthetically pleasing may be two different things, according to complaining customers.

Testing shows the discoloration to be primarily caused by tannin, said Compton engineer Bob Escher on Friday. Tannin is basically a vegetable based stain much like what gives tea its color. To get the color out, said Escher, would be an expensive process. The best option for removing the color would be ozonization, Escher said, which would require a special plant and a Class A operator to monitor the process.

Another option for the district is to dig another well to tap into a deeper aquifer. The well used now is about 800 feet deep.

"We need to do whatever we need to do to get pretty, clear water," said board member Al Smith. Smith lives in the phase 1 project area and said he doesn't like seeing the brown water in his tub any more than anyone else. The district will consider options and make a decision on the matter in coming weeks.

In other business: The board will look into reports that trucks bearing the letters CES have been canvassing neighborhoods, entering on people's property, removing lids to grinder pump stations and performing unspecified activities. The situation was brought to the attention of the board by Cheryl D'avy who thought that the trucks were connected to the district. Several other people at the board meeting indicated that they too had seen related activities. These trucks are not connected with district employees. Please report any related activity to the district office.

Betty Jean Russo told the board that a malfunction in the grinder pump system caused her well to become contaminated with fecal matter. She said the 150 foot well was tested by the health department. She asked the board to consider paying costs to have the well decontaminated or costs to dig another well.

Sandra Hall asked the district to pull a grinder pump from a neighbors yard because they had not paid their sewer bills. Hall also complained about the cost of electricity to run grinder pumps. Hall said that it cost $2.79 cents per hour per month to run the pumps. Smith said the average cost to run pumps has been shown to be about $6 per month for the average household.

Chris Salisbury presented a list of questions to the board that he and his group, the Voice of the People, want the district to answer about the sewer system in Shoreline Park. Board attorney J.P. Compretta said the district would answer the questions in a timely manner. The board also agreed to meet with Salisbury, an engineer for the group, and a DEQ engineer as soon as a meeting could be arranged.

Engineer Jeff Clemons asked for the board's permission to advertise for construction bids for the Phase 2 water project on December 1 and 8, with bid openings tentatively scheduled for January 3 and a construction start around mid-February. Close out documents for Phase 1 have yet to be accepted by the lending agency, RUS.

Mardis Tank Inc. has been given a deadline to finish repairs on Phase 1. Funding for Phase 2 has been held up until this process is completed. Compretta said that it is his understanding that the funding process should move forward in the very near future.

Brian Herrington, 22 - who was pictured on the front page of Sunday's Sea Coast Echo being put in handcuffs - was not jailed Friday, but was merely placed in the back of the police car temporarily during a search. He was not charged with any offense and was released without being arrested.

The grants were made possible by funding from the Exxon Mobil Corporation. The ExxonMobil Education Alliance program is designed to provide Exxon and Mobil retailers with an opportunity to invest in the future of their communities through educational grants to neighborhood schools. "We are proud to be part of the efforts by St. Clare School to continue to provide outstanding educational opportunities to the young people of the Gulf Coast area," Jim Quakenbush said. was on probation on a previous charge of a similar nature."

McNeil said that at least four more arrests are expected as part of the roundup.

"Afternoon Delight" was a multi-agency effort launched last Friday under the leadership of the Bay-Waveland Narcotics Task Force.

"This is the culmination of a four-month operation," Varnell said Friday, "during which undercover agents purchased narcotics from these people."

More than 40 police officers gathered Friday at the American Legion Post in Bay St. Louis in preparation for the sting, which was led by members of the task force, including Laura Stepro and Brett Ladner from the Waveland Police Department; and Ray Murphy and Ian Estorff from the Bay St. Louis Police Department. The operation included officers from both the Bay and Waveland police departments; the Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics; HIDTA; the DEA; Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms; and the Mississippi Army National Guard.

Police arrested 14 suspects on Friday alone, including twelve alleged traffickers in crack cocaine. Two of those arrested at were charged with sale of marijuana. All those arrested lived either in Waveland or Bay St. Louis.

Varnell said the Bay-Waveland task force operates only in the two cities unless otherwise requested by another agency. The Hancock County Sheriff's Department operates its own separate narcotics task force.

Bay-Waveland Narcotics Unit handles 52 cases before 'Delight'

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Publisher Emeritus

In a joint news release this week by Waveland Police Chief Jimmy Varnell and Bay St. Louis Police Chief Frank McNeil, the Bay-Waveland Narcotics Drug Task Force was involved in a total of 52 drug-related cases during its first six months of operation.

Those figures do not include the recent drug roundup, "Operation: Afternoon Delight," which launched last Friday.

Sales of a controlled substance amounted to 28 cases; possession of a controlled substance, 19; prescription forgery, three; transfer of controlled substances, one; and cultivation of marijuana, one case.

Crack cocaine led the pack in sales of a controlled substance with 10 cases, followed by six cases involving ecstasy.

There were five cases involving possession of crack cocaine, and four cases of marijuana with intent to deliver.

Both Varnell and McNeil said, "The agents have worked very hard the first six months, utilizing every avenue possible to fight illegal narcotics use and trafficking in the Bay-Waveland area."

"We have enjoyed working very closely with other agencies, which include the Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics, HIDTA and the Federal Drug Enforcement Administration. The greatest success has been working with these agencies."

"This has given us the best possible avenues to prosecute case in Municipal, State, or the Federal Courts. In addition, these partnerships have allowed us to share resources, equipment, assets and information gathered across jurisdictional lines," Varnell and McNeil added.

Bikes

Daniels and Kappie began talking about a bike patrol about a year ago. Now the patrol has come to fruition, the two police officers have no regrets.

"The bikes allow us to be more in touch with people," Daniels said. "I think people feel intimidated about approaching cops in cars."

When the two borrowed some mountain bikes from friends about a month ago to see the benefits of using bikes, they received a very positive reaction from Pass citizens.

"We had several people approach us," Daniels said. "They said they liked seeing us on bikes."

Others, however, may not share the same enthusiasm.

"Bikes give us an advantage," Kappie said. "They allow us to see and hear better."

He said the bikes allow them to approach crimes in progress without being noticed as easily in a police vehicle.

Less than a week after receiving the bikes, Kappie was on bike patrol when he caught someone with drug paraphernalia. Kappie said he was not noticed because he was able approach the scene quietly.

Pass Christian Police Chief John Dubuisson said the patrol will be used in problem areas of the city and to cover special events.

Although the two officers will not patrol the city every day on bikes, Daniels and Kappie both said they enjoy the bikes better than the cars.

"There's more excitement using a bike," Kappie said.

Daniels said he enjoys the bikes more because citizens are less intimidated by the bikes. He said they also hope to teach children in the community about bike safety in the future.

other.

"It's a little scary when you see nearly the same wreck on the same road," said Sgt. Joe Gazzo of the Mississippi Highway Patrol, which investigated both accidents.

Two people were killed in Monday's accident.

Authorities said Alton Vaughn, 74, of Carriere, was driving a car that collided with another vehicle driven by Clyde Ratliff, 69, of Picayune.

Vaughn and a passenger in Ratliff's vehicle, Evadine Ratliff, 65, of Picayune, died. Clyde Ratliff suffered head and leg injuries.

On Saturday, in an accident about 20 miles east of Picayune, the patrol said a vehicle, driven by Jerry Walton, 26, of Picayune, collided with a pickup driven by Terry Bean, 31, of Picayune.

Bean died at the scene. Walton and his passenger, Melvina Banks, 36, were both treated for injuries, police said.

Don't forget the Bay Rotary dinner

Do not forget the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club's annual meatballs and spaghetti fund raiser set for noon and this evening at Christ Episcopal's Virginia Hall, S. Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis.

The noon session will be from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and the evening dinner from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The dinners are for a donation of $6 each and take-outs are available for the noon and evening sessions.

The meal includes meatballs, spaghetti and red gravy, and iced tea and dessert will be available for dine-in's at Virginia Hall.

Local delivery will be available for the 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. for multi-orders. To order call 228-216-1180.

In case you are interested, the recent Hancock County Solid Waste Authority's Household Hazardous Waste Day Collection event was a tremendous success.

It had been several years since such a collection was made in the county, and it seems folks were keeping items and hoping a collection would be made.

The collection was a joint effort by local authorities and assistance from the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality, the Authority in cooperation with Gulf Regional Planning and Mrs. JoAnn Casey, coordinator.

To make everything work perfectly, there were also some 50 volunteers associated with local businesses and government agencies, Hancock County supervisors, Congressman Gene Taylor's office, etc.

Just to touch on the amounts of some of the items collected from some 600 participants:

- 1,045 gallons of bulk waste flammable paint
- 1,155 gallons of lab pack waste flammable liquid
- 1,055 pounds of pack waste pesticides liquid
- 840 pounds of pack waste pesticides solid
- 805 gallons of used oil
- 12.6 tons of waste tires (approx. 1,000)
- 40,000 pounds of scrap metal and white goods
- 325 auto batteries

So, as you can see, there was a lot of waste items collected and hopefully there will be another grant within next year to conduct another collection.

A big thank you needs to go to everyone who was involved in the collection event.

U.S. Chamber of Commerce being sued

Our old friends, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce group which was caught in 2000 spending $1 million from its unregulated barrels of campaign cash to tell Mississippians which high court judges they should elect, was evidently back in here during our Nov. 5 races.

But this time the Chamber, which still faces a state lawsuit over its 2000 venture, was careful not to have its name attached to any Chamber-bought TV ads.

Instead, as two national news sources reported in the last days of Mississippi's 2002 judicial races, the Chamber was strongly suspected of funneling money through an obscure front called the "Law Enforcement Alliance of America," for TV spots to fool us yokels down here.

LEAA is based in Falls Church, VA. Allegedly it is interested only in opposing gun control. Strangely, no candidate in either the state Southern District state Supreme Court race or the Appeals Court race in Central Mississippi even remotely favored gun control.

The U.S. Chamber, from what has been learned thus far, spent over $560,000 through LEAA in Mississippi in the recent 2002 high court races. Two years ago, with more court races involved, the Chamber spent $1 million.

The first I heard LEAA and the U.S. Chamber mentioned in connection with TV advertising in the Mississippi's judicial campaigns was on National Public Radio's "All Things Considered" news program in a report from Biloxi by Peter Overby just a day before the Nov. 5 voting.

Overby's piece left little doubt that the U.S. Chamber was footing the bill for thousands of dollars of TV spots run by LEAA in the South Mississippi Supreme Court race in behalf of Jess Dickinson of Gulfport, who eventually unseated controversial incumbent Chuck McRae.

Meanwhile, The Wall Street Journal, in a piece by Michael Orey, also under a Biloxi dateline, even more tightly tied the U.S.

Chamber as the bagmen behind LEAA's anti-McRae TV blitz, the biggest television buys in the entire election.

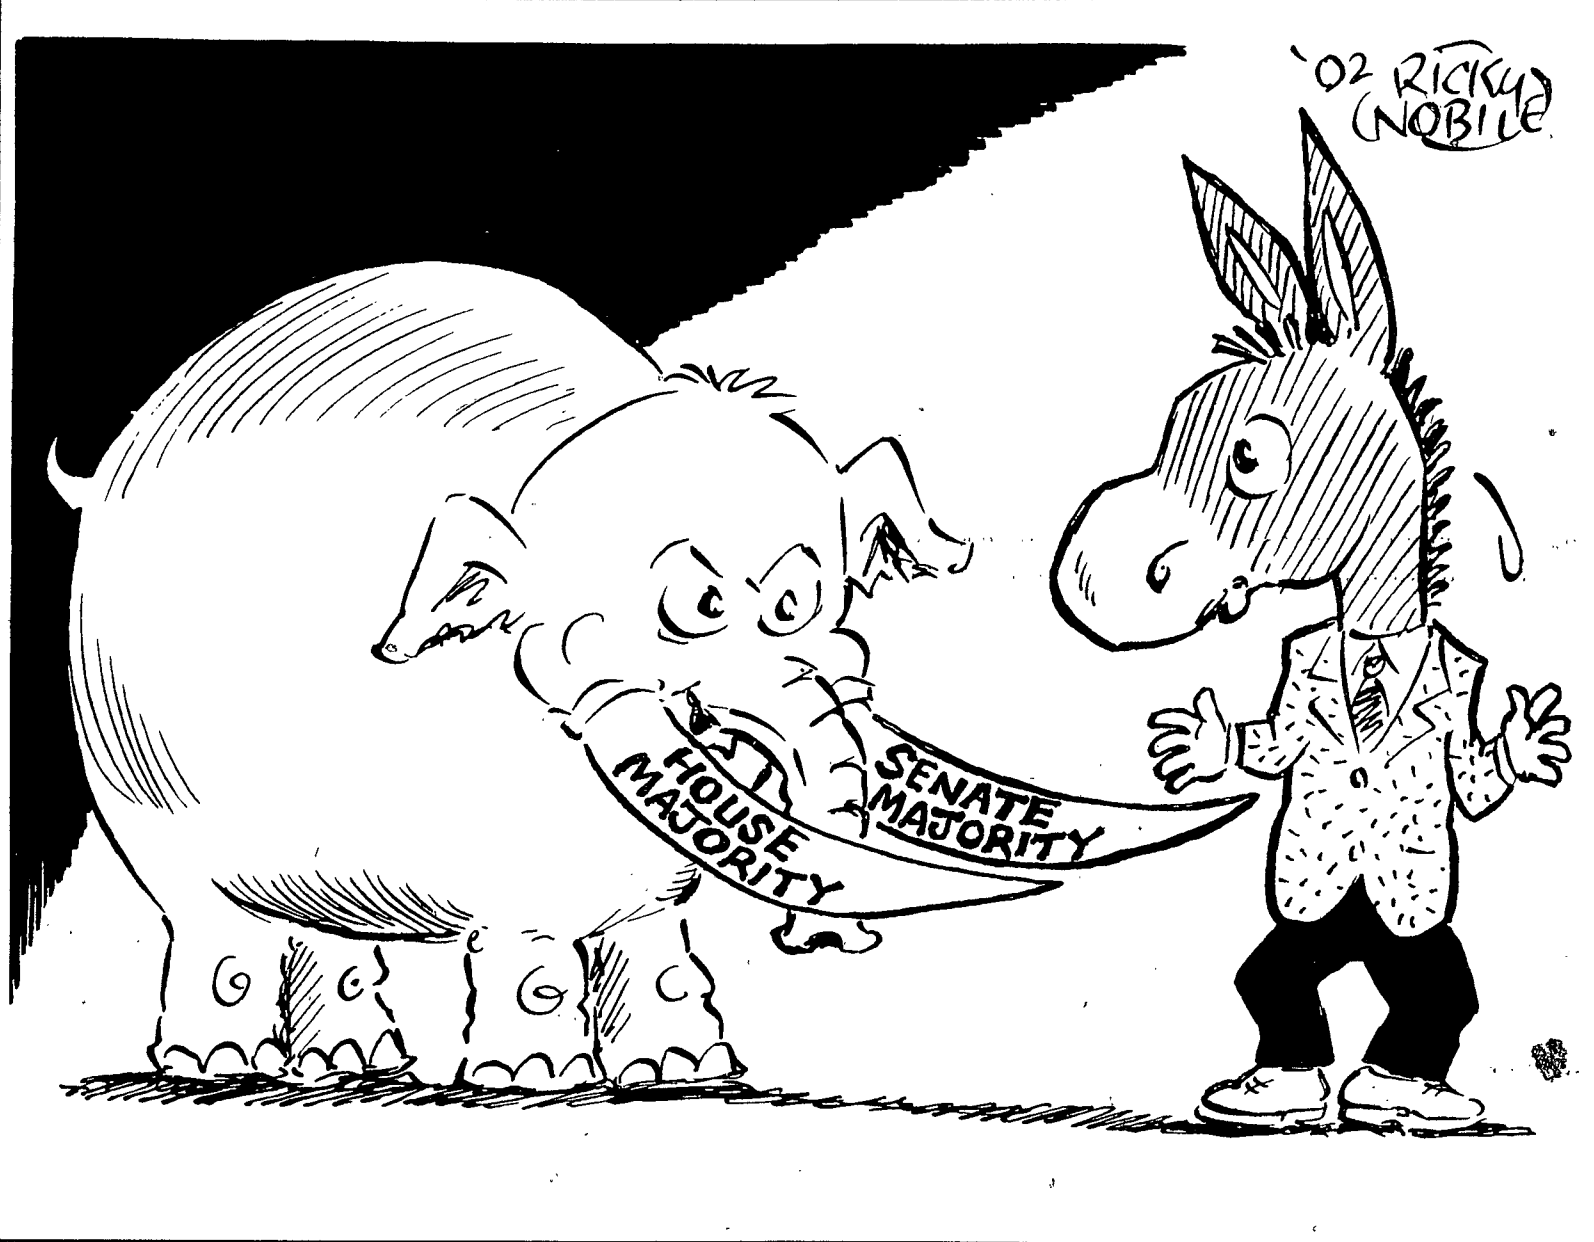

As the Chamber had claimed in its 2000 sortie into Mississippi's judicial races, the LEAA spots were purportedly free speech "issue" ads which avoided the key words "vote for" any particular candidate, but left no doubt of their intent.

Federal District Judge Henry T. Wingate in ruling against the Chamber's refusal in 2000 to comply with Mississippi's campaign finance disclosure law, had nailed the Chamber's same type so-called "issue" ads as "thinly veiled exhortations" to vote for a particular candidate. Wingate's ruling, later overturned by the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals,

Herding cats again

On Wednesday morning after the elections President Bush and I talked at around 7 a.m. He said: "Majority Leader, where are you? Are you still at home?" To which I gladly replied, "No, Mr. President, I'm in my office. Let's go to work."

Working hard is exactly what I plan to do as I resume my roll as Senate Majority Leader - working to pass President Bush's agenda, working to enhance America's security and working to make sure Mississippi gets fair treatment from Washington, and is treated fairly within it.

For years, folks have said the Senate Majority Leader's job is akin to herding a bunch of cats. People ask: why would anyone want to try to lead a cantankerous group of 100 fiercely independent people toward any single goal?

Well, I frankly enjoy it. Furthermore, I am very humbled by the opportunity to once again lead the Senate, and to lead it with a popular President who enjoys the support and respect of most Americans.

This is a crucial time for America. With the Senate, House and President on the same page thanks to a clear vote by the American people, results must follow.

We do indeed have a lot of work before us, after months of enduring a dysfunctional Senate in which bill after bill has languished without results.

One of those bills calls for the creation of a Homeland Security Department, to help protect Americans against domestic threats, including 9/11-style terrorist attacks.

Those who said the midterm elections were issueless races which were "about nothing," need not look any further than this issue for evidence to the contrary.

American Red Cross a blessing to us all

To the Editor:
I am writing this letter to say thank you very much to the men and women volunteers of the American Red Cross who came to the aid of a lot of people of Hancock County.

Myself and family were some of those people.

We have met some very nice people who volunteer their time to help those in need.

They came from Mississippi, West Virginia, North Dakota, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

They brought hot food, snacks, juice, water and cleaning supplies and, most of all, friendship.

So, to the American Red Cross volunteers, thank you very much and god bless.

Minor -- chamber sued has been appealed by Mississippi Atty. Gen. Mike Moore and Secretary of State Eric Clark to the U.S. Supreme Court where it now rests.

Meantime, however, because of an injunction by Associate Justice Antonin Scalia, Mississippi has been blocked from enforcing its campaign finance disclosure law in the Chamber case. Now it remains to be seen if the state has the appetite to haul up the LEAA, as a front for the Chamber in the just-ended state judicial races, for not complying with state law.

It has already become evident from the Wall Street Journal story that the LEAA flatly refused to respond to inquiries about its spending money on TV ads in Mississippi and how it is tied into the judicial activism agenda of the U.S. Chamber.

Jim Wootton, the Chamber's spokesman for its "Institute for Legal Reform," the engine behind the giant business lobby's intrusion into state judgeship races in 2000, also declined to discuss why the Chamber has not been visible in this campaign.

Since the Chamber in May ran a series of full-page newspaper ads condemning Mississippi as an anti-business "lawsuit Mecca" it was especially expected to spearhead the effort to oust McRae from the high court bench, since his background as a lawyer and later as a judge linked him with trial lawyers.

Actually, the huge bundle spent by the Chamber/LEAA to beat McRae was needless overkill, because as had been known from opinion polls taken early in the year, McRae was dead politically, with no chance of being re-elected.

Obviously from campaign contribution reports, the bulk of plaintiff lawyers in the state had abandoned McRae. Some two dozen or more known trial lawyers, ranging from such leaders as David Baria and Crymes Pittman, had contributed significant amounts to Larry Buffington of Collins, the less-visible third candidate in the race.

The Brennan Center for Justice at New York University law school, which documents where and how much special interest groups (such as the Chamber) buy television advertising in Supreme Court elections in states which still elect judges, reported that the alleged LEAA buys "dominated" Mississippi's campaign.

As of Nov. 2, the Brennan Center report showed, the LEAA had spent $191,188 on 644 TV airings for Dickinson. By comparison, the McRae campaign had purchased only 222 airings.

From what this reporter ascertained in calls to TV stations just in the Jackson market, the spending figure in the final analysis is bound to run a good bit higher.

Jackson's WLBT-TV, the largest station, alone said LEAA placed a total of $137,000 in spots with them. Smaller WAPT said LEAA spent $40,000 with it for Dickinson spots. Jackson's WJTV had not yet compiled its figures. Based on WJTV's market share, the LEAA buys were expected to be comparable to WLBT's numbers.

Remember the Jackson market is only at the upper fringes of the Southern Supreme Court district. Logically, the Hattiesburg and Biloxi-Gulfport TV markets would be primary outlets for television ads.

What is yet to be unraveled is whether or not some of the Chamber/LEAA money also became entwined in the Court of Appeals race in the central district won by Ridgeland attorney Kenny Griffith, whose Republican/business financed TV spots closely resembled Dickinson's in several ways, including both

Strangely, one frequent Griffiths attack ad on Jackson TV had contained the picture of Chuck McRae, with a voice saying "just like the trial lawyers who are supporting Jim Brantley" (Griffiths' opponent). In the background a purported trial lawyer is getting off a jet plane.

Dickinson's ads which appeared on the same Jackson stations as Griffiths' used the identical trial lawyer-getting-off-the-jet plane photo and similar McRae scheme.

Certainly the average TV viewer would automatically associate Griffiths with Dickinson as a team to rid Mississippi's high-level judiciary of McRae's flamboyant presence.

Dickinson won the Southern district supreme court race in a landslide, and Griffiths unseated Brantley on the Appeals Court by a comfortable margin.

To paraphrase the old Richard Nixon line, they won't have Chuck McRae to "kick-around any longer." But it may come as a surprise to most Mississippians, that McRae won't be gone right away. He still has 13 months of his term to serve on the Supreme Court.

bill up simply because their big union boss buddies did not like the proposal's nuances.

Well, the American people want this bill. The terrorist attacks on America changed our country. The American people have said they want to fight terrorists, and they want to be protected from these new and fearsome threats by our military abroad, and by a modern, efficient homeland security apparatus here at home. All special interests should prepare to take a back seat to the security of America.

The American people also clearly want the War on Terror prosecuted aggressively, even if it means confronting the threat posed by Saddam Hussein in Iraq.

Just this week, two Al Qaeda terrorists wanted for attacking the USS Cole and killing dozens of American sailors met their own violent end thanks to a Hellfire missile fired from a CIA drone aircraft.

America's enemies should take note of these results, because this President and this Congress are prepared to protect the American people with whatever it requires.

Economic security is also a priority for the American people, as demonstrated in the elections' results. As the terrorist attacks changed our view of national security, so too have they changed our economy, presenting us with new economic challenges from Wall Street to Main Street.

For instance, I strongly believe America must become more energy independent, less beholden to unpredictable Middle Eastern nations for oil and gas. Our economy's stability cannot remain tied to the political instability of these nations. America must use more of our own vast energy resources.

Also, I am going to work with the President to support tax relief, and to make the existing tax cuts permanent. Not a single job has ever been created by higher taxes.

Lower taxes are a proven method of job creation and economic vitality.

Mississippians can expect better treatment from Washington with what I believe will be Judge Charles Pickering's eventual confirmation to the 5th Circuit Court.

Judge Pickering and other conservative judges have been treated with gross unfairness by liberals on the Senate Judiciary Committee simply because they are conservative. Now the tables have turned.

This doesn't mean Judge Pickering will be confirmed just to take revenge, instead Judge Pickering will be confirmed because he is qualified by education, experience and because his confirmation is simply the right thing to do.

Doing the right thing for the country is what governing should always be about, even if it's harder than herding cats.

Disaster application deadline

Coastal residents in seven disaster-declared counties who experienced losses resulting from tropical storm Isidore beginning Sept. 23 have until Nov. 30 to apply for disaster assistance.

Small Business Administration (SBA) loan applications for disaster-related losses to real and personal property must also be submitted by that date.

"This is only the application deadline," said Mike Bolch, federal coordinating officer. "For people who have already applied, their cases will continue to be processed. New individual applications, however, will not be accepted after the Nov. 30 deadline."

Federal and state disaster recovery officials urge those who have not applied to do so as soon as possible by calling the toll-free registration number, 1-800-621-FEMA (3362).

Hearing or speech impaired individuals may call TTY registration, 1-800-462-7585.

To date 5,213 individuals have applied for disaster assistance. More than $3.5 million has been approved to date. The SBA has approved more than $7 million in disaster loans for homes and businesses.

Your Mississippi Supreme Court found that Wes Teel violated six Rules of Professional Conduct. In a Public Reprimand, they found his conduct demonstrated an "unfitness for the practice of law."

Which makes us wonder. If Wes Teel is unfit to practice law, how can he be fit to serve as our Chancery Court Judge?

The Bay High Air Force JROTC Flying Tigers competed in a three-state, 27-team invitational championship drill meet Nov. 2 sponsored by the Army JROTC program at Ocean Springs.

When the results were in, Bay High amassed eight trophies, including first place overall.

This victory puts the Tigers "on the road to Daytona," a phrase that means if they continue to excel, they will receive an invitation to the largest drill competition in the nation - the Daytona Drill Team Championships.

To enter one must win a top trophy in a major drill meet.

Despite being composed of 50 percent first-year cadets, the Flying Tigers won a trophy in all major categories, garnering the overall first place award.

The Tigers travel to George County (Lucedale) for another drill team competition Nov. 16.

On Nov. 23, the Flying Tigers travel to Hancock County High School for a 20-team major competition sponsored by the Army JROTC program at Hancock High School.

Car safety check

On Nov. 15 between 3 and 6 p.m., the Bay St. Louis Police Department will sponsor, along with Winn-Dixie and Mississippi Safe Kids, a free car safety seat check across from Eckerd's at the Market Town Shopping Mall.

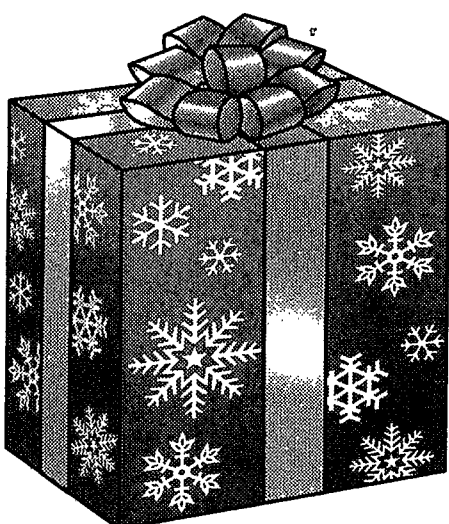

There will also be a safety seat check Nov. 16, 10 a.m.-1 p.m. at DeRussy Motors in Waveland, sponsored by Mississippi Safe Kids, Hancock County Sheriff's Department, the Waveland Police Department and DeRussy Motors.

Car seats reduce the risk of death by 71 percent for infants under age 1 and by 54 percent for toddlers ages 1-4 when properly used and installed.

During the week of Nov. 18-22, the Bay St. Louis Police Department will host the "Regional Organized Crime Information Center" conference at the Depot.

Nereids to host golf tournament

The Krewe of Nereids will host a golf tournament Nov. 16 at The Oaks Golf Club. Members of Nereids work throughout the year on fundraisers such as this to bring their annual Mardi Gras parade to the community.

Registration begins at 7:30 a.m. with coffee and donuts from Daddy O's Café. The four-man scramble follows with an 8 a.m. shotgun start.

Golfers will be treated to a lunch from the grill and boiled seafood from Lil' Ray's restaurant.

Raffles will be ongoing throughout the day. Prizes from Nevada Bob's and other businesses will be awarded for closest to the pin, longest drive and hole in one contests.

A car donated by DeRussy Motors in Waveland will highlight the tournament as the hole-in-one prize.

"Whether you're a beginner or expert golfer, come join the fun and get the party started with Nereids on November 16 at The Oaks," said spokesperson Nancy Artigues.

For more information, contact Dina Rosetti at 467-0401.

Christ Episcopal Women to host annual Harvest Dinner Nov. 21

Christ Episcopal Church will hold its 54th annual Harvest Dinner Thursday, Nov. 21 in Virginia Hall, 912 South Beach Blvd. Church family and friends are invited to participate in this tradition which began in 1948.

For more than five decades, the Women of Christ Church have been preparing a traditional Thanksgiving dinner to raise money for their community and worldwide mission outreach.

The Harvest Dinner tradition began when Charles and Mary Breath Jr. opened their home to the Women of the Church.

Seven women prepared the traditional dinner. The menu remains just about the same: turkey, ham, dressing, gravy, sweet potato casserole, creamed spinach, cranberry relish, salad, rolls, dessert, and beverage.

This year the Women of the Church are bringing back Effie McCulloch's famous cranberry relish. Effie's daughter, Linda McCulloch and Nannette Penrose Stroh will work with others in the church community to prepare this special relish.

The dinner will be available for take-out from 3 p.m. - 6 p.m. at the kitchen door. Dinner will be served inside Virginia Hall from 5 p.m. - 8 p.m. The tickets are $6. They may be obtained in advance from Women of the Church members or may be purchased at the door.

The dinner is a joint effort of the Women of Christ Church, some of whom are the next generation to participate; thus keeping up the tradition.

Point Isle Garden Club sets next meeting January 7

The Point Isle Garden Club met Nov. 5 in the Sewer Board Building.

The vice-president presided in the absence of the president.

A report was given on the Oktoberfest and auction held in October.

The yard sale Nov. 2 was a big success. The sale next year will be on the second Saturday instead of the first.

The form has been sent to the Bay St. Louis Library to enter a Christmas tree in the competition.

The trees are to be placed in the library between December 2 and 6.

It was announced that the garden club has received two honors from the Spanish Trail District. One is a certificate of merit for Outstanding Participation in State Projects, and the other is a certificate of achievement as a Blue Ribbon Club.

The garden club will again sponsor a yard and mail box decoration contest this year.

The judging will be on the evening of Dec. 13.

The signs to announce the contest will be posted Nov. 29.

The program was presented by Madge Matherne. She discussed "Gardens Under Glass" and also showed examples she had made.

There will not be a December meeting, because of the Christmas social and other activities.

The next meeting will be Jan. 7 at 2 p.m. in the HP/PCI Sewer Board Building.

Parents ask Dr. Richard Kutner, child and adolescent psychiatrist—

"Is there really such a thing as a bad child?"

I tell parents "no," but many children do make bad decisions, based on things they can't control. Medical conditions, like hyperactivity, depression, and anxiety...stress in their environment...or expectations beyond their age or ability...contribute to poor choices and inappropriate behavior. Left untreated, these kids may be labeled as "being bad." Today, the family schedule is packed...free time is rare, and a lot is expected of children, sometimes unfairly. When kids can't cope, we see more problems. We'd like to help you; if you want more information, call us now or anytime. There's always a counselor standing by to talk with you.

Pascagoula built U.S. Navy ship commissioned in Boston ceremony

BOSTON - Recalling his brother's naval history, U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts called the U.S. Navy's newest ship "the best of the past, present and future of the Navy and the country in the new fight against terrorists around the world."

Sen. Kennedy was the principal speaker for the commissioning of USS Preble (DDG 88), the newest in a series of advanced Aegis guided missile destroyers built for the Navy by Northrop Grumman Corporation (NYSE: NOC) at its Ship Systems sector in Pascagoula. More than 5,000 invited guests were in attendance when DDG 88's 300-plus officers and enlisted personnel marched to their posts on the ship, which was commissioned last weekend at Pier Four in Boston, dockside next to the U.S. Navy's first ship, USS Constitution.

This ship is named in honor of U.S. Navy Commodore Edward Preble (1761-1807), who was appointed first lieutenant in the United States Navy in 1798.

"The American naval tradition that Edward Preble did so much to create was epitomized by courageous action, outstanding victory and the best technologies available," said Sen. Kennedy. "That same tradition is reflected proudly in the U.S. Navy today. The destroyer we commission here today is the most technologically advanced warship ever built. It reflects the best of American ingenuity and design that we can put in the water. The real strength of this ship is her crew, for technology will not sail her into history. The men and women of the crew will have that honor and that responsibility, and we can count on them to protect our freedoms."

He continued, "Today we face an uncertain world. In the 1800s, pirates were the terrorists of the sea, attacking America's commerce. Commodore Preble succeeded by developing the right strategies for our young Navy to defeat a land-based enemy. The same courage, determination, innovation and decisive leadership make our modern Navy a major asset in the war against terror. It is comforting for all Americans to know that fine crews like this one, and sophisticated warships like DDG 88, will be patrolling the world's oceans protecting us."

Ship's Sponsor Mrs. Connie Rae Clark, wife of Adm. Vernon E. Clark, USN chief of naval operations, and her sister-in-law, Matron of Honor Elaine Johnson, of Toledo, Ohio, gave the traditional order to "man our ship and bring her to life."

"Our Navy appreciates all of what the shipbuilders do to create these outstanding ships, because they really do build freedom one great ship at a time. We want to say 'thank you' for this ship because she's an awesome addition to American sea power," said Adm. Clark. He continued, "It will become part of an awesome fighting force called the United States Navy and it joins a force today whose mantra in this global war on terrorism is life, liberty and the pursuit of all who would threaten it."

DDG 88 will be homeported in San Diego, Calif., as an element of the U.S. Pacific Fleet. Cmdr. Timothy A. Batzler, a native of Baltimore, Md., is now in command of the 509.5-foot, 9,300-ton destroyer. "There are many similarities to the two ships behind me," Cmdr. Batzler said, referring to USS Constitution and USS Preble. "When they were both built they were the best the country could produce. Both entered service as instruments of peace and in a time when they were badly needed. Today the United States Navy is at its finest and my crew and I are eager to take our place in the best Navy the world has ever known."

USS Preble (DDG 88) is the 38th ship of the DDG 51 Aegis destroyer program and the 17th to be built by Northrop Grumman Ship Systems. The ship is the fifth of the revised Flight IIA ships built by Northrop Grumman, with hangars for two SH-60B/F helicopters and an enlarged flight deck.

"I'm especially proud to represent the 17,000 men and women of the Northrop Grumman Ship Systems team that has done its part in building this ship, and which is also now looking to the future of destroyers as we lead a team to design and develop an entirely new class of destroyers, DD(X)," said Dr. Philip A. Dur, Northrop Grumman corporate vice president and president of the company's Ship Systems sector. "Commodore Preble would be honored that his fighting legacy will live on in yet another namesake ship with a special place in the battle line for the pirates of old who have their own successors in the terrorists of today, who are within reach of this ship even when they hide 700 miles inland."

Following DDG 88, Northrop Grumman has contracts to produce 11 additional Aegis destroyers, with six of those ships in various stages of production.

"This ship and crew represent an enormous national commitment of tax dollars and human talent," said Adm. Robert J. Natter, USN, commander, U.S. Fleet Forces Command. "This ship is not cheap, but neither is liberty, neither is freedom of the seas and neither is the fight in which we are currently engaged against terrorism. From this day forward, this magnificent ship will be recognized as a symbol and a part of the reality of American naval supremacy and I am proud to have Preble join us in the United States Fleet."

"It's our job in the Navy to make sure that we provide the greatest technology to these ships and crew so that if they do have to sail in harm's way the shipbuilding industry and the government will provide them with the finest equipment," said Rear Adm. William M. Cobb Jr., USN, program executive officer, Theater Surface Combatants.

Northrop Grumman's Ship Systems Sector includes primary operations in Pascagoula and Gulfport, and in New Orleans and Tallulah, La., as well as a network of fleet support offices in the U.S. and Japan. The sector, which currently employs more than 17,000 shipbuilding professionals, primarily in Mississippi and Louisiana, is one of the nation's leading full service systems companies for the design, engineering, construction, and life cycle support of major surface ships for the U.S. Navy, U.S. Coast Guard and international navies, and for commercial vessels of all types.

Northrop Grumman Corporation is a $17 billion, global defense company with its worldwide headquarters in Los Angeles. Northrop Grumman provides technologically advanced, innovative products, services and solutions in defense and commercial electronics, systems integration, information technology and nuclear and non-nuclear shipbuilding and systems. With nearly 96,000 employees and operations in 44 states and 25 countries, Northrop Grumman serves U.S. and international military, government and commercial customers.

Bay F.D. gets $46,000 grant

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

The Federal Emergency Management Agency and the United States Fire Administration announced on Thursday that the Bay St. Louis Fire Department has been awarded a $46,808 grant from the eighth round of Fiscal Year 2002 Assistance Firefighters Grant Awards. The department is one of 15 in Mississippi to receive a grant in this round of funding.

The funds are meant to be used to increase the effectiveness of fire fighting operations, fire fighter health and safety programs, new fire apparatus, EMS programs and fire prevention and safety programs.

In Bay St. Louis the grant dollars will be used for personal protective equipment, said Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie, such as self contained breathing apparatus, communication speakers which fit inside the firefighters mask, and portable radios and two rapid intervention team rescue packs. The department will also purchase one thermal imaging camera.

In the mask communication will make it possible to communicate with a firefighter while he is inside a burning building, without him having to take off his protective mask, Gavagnie said. Rescue packs will make rescue in dangerous conditions safer. The packs contain, among other items, a 60 minute oxygen supply that will allow rescuers to provide oxygen to a trapped firefighter. Now rescuers must bring a downed fireman outside before administering oxygen. The packs also packs also provide guide lines so that rescuers can find their way back out of a smoky environment.

About 5,500 such grants are expected to be awarded before the end of the calendar year. The total of all the awards will be somewhere around $360 million said a press release from Senator Trent Lott's office.

The Pfister Sisters

D'head Performing Arts presents the Pfister Sisters

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Diamondhead Performing Arts Society presents the Pfister Sisters, Holley Bendtsen, Debbie Davis and Yvette Voelker Cuccia with pianist Amasa Miller Sunday, Nov. 17 at 7 p.m. at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Singled out in 1981 by Variety as one of the best new acts of the Jazz and Heritage Festival, the Pfister Sisters have delighted audiences with their sweet/hot jazz harmonies since 1979.

Holley, Debbie, Yvette and Amasa comprise one of the few groups that represent the New Orleans swing era and the only act featuring vocal jazz harmony.

The Pfisters have sung with the Neville Brothers at Angola State Prison, with Linda Rondstadt and Jimmy Buffet at the New Orleans Artists Against Homelessness and Hunger concerts, and with Maxene Andrews (yes, of the Andrews Sisters) on the wing of an airplane.

They are equally at home fronting a large orchestra as they are in an intimate cabaret setting, regaling audiences with stories of the music they bring to life.

The Pfister Sisters pay homage to their 1930's New Orleans predecessors, the Boswell Sisters on their 2000 CD, "All's Well That's Boswell."

Learn about the contribution of these incredible ladies to New Orleans' infant jazz scene, and enjoy the Sisters' interpretation of their sweet-hot vocal arrangements.

You can also hear original tunes - check out the Pfisters' funky tribute to our favorite local performers, "Down at the Jazz Fest in New Orleans." Written by founding Pfister Holley Bendtsen, the song is available on their first CD "The Pfister Sisters."

They will be accompanied for their November Diamondhead performance by their big band.

Tickets are $15 adults, $3.50 students and are available at Diamondhead Drugs or at the door.

Christmas in the Pass will be held on Friday, December 6, beginning at 5:30 p.m. at War Memorial Park.

The Pass Christian elementary choirs will begin the celebration for children, followed by the anticipated arrival of Santa Claus, who will pass out candy canes to the children. After the lighting of the Christmas Tree, Santa and Mrs. Claus will then begin the exciting Christmas Parade throughout the town with the Pass Christian High School Band.

A music tent at the corner of Market and Second streets will feature area school and church choirs singing carols throughout the evening.

Some participating will be the middle and high school choir, St. Rose de Lima choir, and the Pass High band.

Continual singing of Community Choirs will be in front of St. Paul's Catholic Church, 140 Scenic Dr.

Local musicians will perform at various locations around the town as well. Bobby Allison will be at Steve Saucier's, 130 Davis Ave. The public is invited to join groups and sing-along with the Christmas carolers.

This is a joyous and festive occasion, with the merchants (most of whom are members of the Chamber of Commerce) decorating their shops for this annual event with the anticipation of receiving awards for their decorations.

Our Lady Academy's Lisa Reboul, Katie Holt, Vada McNally, Jenni Craft, Emma Carver and Ashleigh Dugas (not pictured, Jennifer Coote) brave the chilly weather last week and select their kayaks during physical education class last week.

Our Lady Academy goes out to sea for athletic training

BY BENNIE
SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Although we are lucky enough to have a beautiful beach front environment, Da Beach House owner, Todd Read, doesn't feel enough people take advantage of the recreational opportunities that living on a seacoast present. So he and wife Coleen have decided to try to do their part to promote more fun in the water.

Their push to get more people out in the water to have fun actually began a couple of years ago when the Reads approached the Bay High football players. What the Reads proposed was that the team use kayaking as a regular part of their training.

Kayaking exercises different muscles not regularly used in traditional training, he said, and helps keep the body limber, and it is fun. The Reads offered their kayaks to the team at no cost and many team members took advantage of the opportunity, especially on weekends, Todd Read said.

After that the Reads offered the kayaks to other sports teams at Bay High and other schools. But they would like to see a variety of kids take advantage of the sport, not just athletes.

Lisa Reboul and Katie Holt take their kayak for a spin.

Right now, the only school actively working with the kayaks is Our Lady Academy. For one day each week for two semesters now, weather permitting, OLA athletic director Dina Potter walks with her class down the beach to Da Beach House. There the girls check in, grab their brightly-colored, open-style sea kayaks, and drag them down to the beach.

Last week, six girls from the seven member physical education class practiced their paddling under cloudy skies. It was likely the last week this semester that the girls will be able to go out due to approaching cold

Hybrid pink dianthus offers new toughness

SOUTHERN GARDENING
BY NORMAN WINTER

As you shop for daffodils and pansies, pick up a flat or two of dianthus. The new hybrid pink dianthus offers months of cool-season color for the landscape.

They would be a worthy purchase even if they are annuals, but many gardeners find these newer varieties will give three, four or more seasons of bloom.

These are tough, cold-tolerant plants that will endure our summer heat and humidity with good soil preparation and a layer of mulch. In recent years, several have been recognized as exceptionally good performers in trial in Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia and Florida.

These delightful plants give outstanding color in red, pink, white and every blend of the three. In addition to their cheerful colors, they also have an enticing fragrance.

Hybrid pinks prefer well-drained, well-worked beds rich in organic matter. When preparing a bed, incorporate two pounds of a slow-release, 12-6-6-fertilizer with minor nutrients per 100 square feet of bed space.

Give plenty of sun to enable them to bloom to their potential. Plant at the same depth they are growing in the container in the fall or spring, spacing plants 6 to 8 inches apart.

Lightly side-dress with fertilizer once a month to keep them growing and producing. Keep your hybrid pinks mulched to conserve moisture, deter weed growth and give added cold protection.

Mulch also keeps summer soil temperatures cooler, increasing your chances of keeping them around for multiple years. Deadhead old blossoms to keep the plant looking tidy and the flower stems coming.

Dianthus colors allow for partnering with cool season crops like pansies, violas, snapdragons, and flowering kale or cabbage. Try growing taller selections behind Purple Rain pansy or True Blue Panola. They also offer the opportunity to combine with spring flowering daisies or coreopsis.

If you are interested in growing patriotic colors, try red and white varieties with plants like blue lobelia. Use also with Dusty

Rocks exit playoffs; Hawks earn Shrimp Bowl nod

Coming up next:
The All-Star Sea
Coast Echo team

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

There is just one game left and Gridiron 2002 will be finished. The Hancock Hawks suffered a devastating blow last Friday at the hands of the Oak Grove Warriors in "The Nest" and the St. Stanislaus Rock-achaws exited the playoffs with a loss to the #6-ranked South Pike Eagles.

Hancock was in a must-win situation to advance to the Class 5A state playoffs in their game against the visiting Oak Grove Warriors. The Hawks were shutout 10-0 and eliminated from playoff contention. However, a Shrimp Bowl invitation was received by the Hawks following the game.

In the game against the Warriors, Hancock committed five turnovers during the contest which became a deciding factor in their defeat.

Just as the second quarter began, the Warriors got on the scoreboard. Oak Grove scored on a 13-yard pass which proved to be the only points that they needed. Chris St. John added a field goal with 1:27 left to play in the third quarter to put Oak Grove up 10-0.

The Hawks (6-5, 3-4) will lock horns with the East Central Hornets in the 63rd annual Shrimp Bowl Classic on Friday in Biloxi.

The Rocks were ousted from the Class 4A state playoffs by the then #6-ranked South Pike Eagles 42-8. SSC fought toe-to-toe with the Eagles for the first quarter of play. The second quarter saw the Rocks give up big plays that put the game out of reach. The second half was won by the Rocks but it was too little too late.

SSC (4-7) has faced the Eagles all three times the Rocks have advanced to the state playoffs. In 1991, the Eagles defeated the Rock 13-6 and 14-11 in 1998.

The speed of the Eagles hurt the Rocks all game long. Everyone who has played the game knows that speak kills. It can't be coached.

It can't be taught. It can't be simulated.

However, one thing is for sure the Rocks gave the Eagles a much harder fight than the score insinuated. SSC left everything they had on the field and represented the area teams well.

The Bay High Tigers finished the season the week before with a 0-10 record while the Pass High Pirates ended 2002 with a 3-7 record.

Now, it is said that down south there are just three seasons - football season, spring training, and pre-season. Now, we are eagerly awaiting the arrival of spring training.

Stay tuned for the All-Sea Coast Echo football team which will be presented in early December. See you at the game!

Area teams hit hardwood running to begin 2002-2003 campaigns

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The hardwood season opened for all area schools this past weekend. The Pass High and Bay High girls both tallied wins while SSC notched a win in their season opener. The Hancock boys defeated Bay High to move to 1-0 on the season while the Hancock girls are still looking for that elusive first win in this young season.

The Lady Pirates defeated OLA 69-27 last week for their first win of the season. Kenyatta Woods had a double-double with 11 rebounds and 11 assists in the game. Deanna Ladner was just one steal away from a triple-double in the opener. Ladner scored 15 points, 12 rebounds and nine assists in the contest. Earlier in the week, OLA notched a win over Resurrection High School.

The Lady Tigers notched a win in their season opener and then knocked off the #1-ranked Lady Hawks for their next win on Saturday night. The Lady Tigers defeated Stone County 78-33 behind 35 points in the second period.

Kendra Reed led Bay High with 21 points followed by Carmen Labat's 17 points and four steals. LaMonica James added 11 boards in the game for the Lady Tigers.

As always, the Hancock/Bay High matchup was a barn-burner. The game went into overtime before Bay High pulled out the victory 74-68.

The #5-ranked Bay High Lady Tigers (2-0) had four players scoring double-digits. Kendra Reed led the way with 22 points followed by her sister, Stephanie, with 19 points. Carmen Labat added 17 points while LaMonica James scored 12 points.

The Lady Hawks (0-2) were led by Brooke Nacaise with 17 points. Ashley Boehnel added 14 points while Courtney Craft scored 13 points.

The Lady Hawks led at halftime 45-37 and only scored one basket in the extra period. Lady Hawks head coach Pam Slayton added, "The players really did some good things. In the second half, we did not attack Bay High like we needed to. We gave up some easy baskets. With :07 left in the game, we had a two-point lead on them and turned the ball over. Bay High did an great job tonight. I told the players after the game that we must be the best 0-2 team in the state. It was a solid performance. We had a couple of bad breaks at some inopportune times. We need to build from here."

St. Stanislaus College's Darius Acker "gets the ball rolling" for the team in a recent outing.

The Hancock boys team defeated the Tigers in the late game 74-65. The Tigers held a halftime lead 38-33. Adam Ladner, the Hawks 6-7 center, scored 12 points and pulled down 16 rebounds to lead Hancock. Cody Ladner and Marcus Ladner each scored 13 points in the win.

The Tigers were led by Lorenzo Lewis' 21 points. Marquez Singleton added 20 points followed by Eric Lymuel with 18 points.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws defeated St.

Thomas Aquinas of Hammond 88-30 earlier on Saturday.

The Rocks jumped out to a 21-2 lead in the first period and never looked back as the entire bench saw the court.

SSC went up 67-23 at the end of the third period when Darius Acker put an exclamation point on the game with a shot from Mickey Demoran's Appliance Service building at the buzzer. Earlier in the period, Mario Faranda added his punctuation with a flush over a defender as the Rocks held a 52-19 advantage.

Acker led four Rocks in double figures with 18 points. Faranda added 16 points while Rob Murray and Gabe Wilks added 11 and 10 points, respectively.

SSC head coach Jay Ladner stated, "They will get a lot tougher from here on out. Obviously, we are happy with the win and everyone got an opportunity to play tonight. It was good game experience for the players but things will get increasingly tougher and we must prepare for that."

Pass Christian will be hosting their tournament on Thursday thru Saturday of this week. Hancock will be playing in that tournament while SSC will be on the road at Moss Point on Saturday evening. The Tigers will be at home on Friday, November 15 against Poplarville and on the road Saturday against Pascagoula.

Rocks finish division champs and state runner-up in X-country

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaw cross country team came oh-so-close to the Class 4A state title on November 9 in Clinton. Three runners for SSC were named to the All-State team as the Rocks finished runner-up to Pearl High School with 68 team points. Pearl tallied 34 points to win the meet.

SSC cross country head coach Steve Flannery stated, "We knew that we would need a perfect day to win the meet. We just did not have that perfect day. Our goal all season was to make a run at the state title. It was the only goal that we did not accomplish." The Rocks won the state title in cross country in 1991. Pearl High School was the only Mississippi team to defeat the Rocks this season. During the season, the Rocks defeated perennial 5A powers Biloxi and Ocean Springs in addition to winning all four invitationals they participated in.

Kyle Lewis placed fifth overall followed by Allen Leone and Kody Cannon in sixth and seventh place, respectively. Their times were separated by a mere 10 seconds. Lewis' time was 17:48 followed by Leone at 17:50 and Cannon 17:58. The other top finishers for the Rocks were Danny Surbeck in 20th place and Troy Johnston in 31st overall. The times were a bit slower than the runners were used to but the course was rather muddy due to inclement weather that had soaked the area during the week prior to the state meet. Flannery continued, "This team has been preparing for this run for the last 4-5 years. They are maturing as runners and have been working extremely hard in both the offseason, as well as, the cross country season. Kyle Lewis has been the leader on this team since he was in the eighth grade. Allen Leone and Kody Cannon are great distance runners and complement Kyle Lewis very well. Danny Surbeck has really stepped up this season and focused hard to get to where he is. He has filled a much needed spot on the team. Troy Johnston is a very talented runner and we have not even begun to see his potential." The Rocks also brought home the division title on Nov. 2.

Kyle Lewis was crowned as the individual division champion after beating D'Iberville's Corey Washburn.

Miller, early spring petunias and alyssum.

The Dianthus chinensis, though great for cool season, didn't have the new toughness identified in the hybrid known as Dianthus chinensis x barbatus.

This group is represented by plants like the Telestar series that was chosen as a Louisiana Select award winner, and the Ideal series that has proven the best in University of Georgia trials.

Ideal Carmine and Ideal Rose were chosen as Fluroselect Quality Mark winners and Ideal Violet, an All-America Selections award winner.

The Melody series offers several choices, and the Melody Pink was chosen as an All-America Selections winner.

Those known as Dianthus barbatus interspecific hybrids are also exceptionally tough. Last year, Bouquet Purple dianthus was chosen as a Mississippi Medallion award winner and the Minnesota Select Perennial Plant of the Year.

A new selection, known as Amazon Neon Duo, is even taller than Bouquet Purple and has been terrific in Florida trials. Like Bouquet Purple the Amazon Neon Duo offers opportunities for cut flowers.

The reason for the duo name is that the flowers are a 50:50 mixture of cherry and purple. This one looks to have award winner written all over it.

Regardless, if you haven't tried dianthus in several years, the new hybrids may surprise you with their color, cold hardiness and residual vigor in subsequent years.

weather, said Potter.

Potter offers her students various alternatives to traditional sports activities such as bicycling, the activity likely to replace kayaking as winter sets in, she said.

Potter is a first-year teacher at OLA. The Greenville native said she was introduced to kayaking in a traditional closed kayak at a class she took while attending Delta State. Not a very true experience, she said, because the class was held in a swimming pool at the college. Last week, she paddled out along with the girls.

The sea kayaks used by the girls are easy to handle and weigh from 35 to 50 pounds, Read said. The boats come in many different shapes and styles and the use for each style depends on many factors. Sea kayaks are a different style than a lake or river kayak. Some of the boats are wide, some narrow for racing, some closed, some open, depending on purpose, personal preference and skill.

"We have another motive," Read of efforts to interest people in kayaking. "We would like to see competitive teams along the coast. My bigger goal is to eventually have outrigger canoe teams ... outrigger canoes hold about six people. And see participation from a wide variety of people, from kids to couples to seniors."

But first you have to get people in the water. And try to create an awareness of the possibilities. Perhaps even more important, Read said, is the environmental awareness that water sports create. If people are out in the water more, they are going to think more about keeping it clean.

'When I grow up ...'

On Oct. 31, students from Gulfview Elementary were encouraged to dress as "What I Want to Be When I Grow Up." The idea was to give the children an activity that's fun, safe, and educational. They dressed up for a job or as a person they admired, and learned more about the career they chose. This activity is part of the Fast Forward Mississippi, Mississippi's School-to-Careers Initiative.

John C. Stennis portrait to enter Mississippi Hall of Fame Nov. 17

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The portrait of the Honorable John C. Stennis will be dedicated to the Mississippi Hall of Fame on Sunday, Nov. 17, at 3 p.m. in the House of Representatives Chamber of the Old Capitol Museum of Mississippi History, Jackson. The ceremonies will include a video presentation on the life of Senator Stennis. The public is cordially invited to attend.

John C. Stennis was Mississippi's longest-serving U.S. Senator, holding office from 1947 until 1988 and serving as chairman of the Armed Services Committee and later the powerful Appropriations Committee.

Known as "a senator's senator," Stennis was respected on both sides of the aisle. His reputation for integrity was evidenced when in 1954 he became the first member of his party to challenge the actions of Senator Joseph McCarthy on the Senate floor. Stennis also wrote the first code of ethics for the Senate. Back home the senator championed various improvement causes, including the Rural Electrification Administration, the Tennessee Valley Authority, and the construction of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

The Stennis Space Center in Hancock County employs more than 4,500 people engaged in the development of rocket propulsion and remote sensing technology, while the four forestry research labs he helped establish support the state's huge timber production industries.

John C. Stennis died April 23, 1995. His body lay in state in the Old Capitol on April 25, and he was buried at Pine Crest Cemetery in his native DeKalb.

Senator Stennis was elected to the Mississippi Hall of Fame in December 2001, the first year he was eligible.

Only Mississippians, either native or adopted, who have been deceased for at least five years, are eligible for consideration for the Hall of Fame. Elections to the Hall of Fame are held once every five years, and no more than five people may be admitted each time.

Elected with Stennis were renowned playwright Tennessee Williams, visionary businessman Owen Cooper, United States District Judge Burnita Shelton Matthews, and Dr. Jacob L. Reddix, longtime president of Jackson State University.

The Mississippi Hall of Fame, established by MDAH in 1902, honors distinguished Mississippians through portraits housed in the Old Capitol Museum.

The Old Capitol Museum of Mississippi History, a National Historic Landmark, is located in Jackson on State Street at Capitol. Museum hours are 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday to Friday; 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday; and 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.
